

ks_kəṭqayx<sup>w</sup>ntim i? siwṭk<sup>w</sup>

we will protect the water

siwṭk<sup>w</sup>

WATER WEBINAR: FOOD SOVEREIGNTY

LEARN ABOUT: DRYLAND FARMING • WATER PROTECTION • INDIGENOUS SOVEREIGNTY •

SEPTEMBER 29, 2025 AT 12:00PM - 1:15PM (PST)

GUEST SPEAKER:

DR. MICHAEL KOTUTWA
JOHNSON, UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA

SPECIAL TOPIC: FOOD SOVEREIGNTY

Discover how Indigenous food sovereignty is rooted in water stewardship, with traditional dryland farming and water-saving practices offering solutions to drought, heat, and shifting water cycles.

SPEAKER BIO: DR. MICHAEL KOTUTWA JOHNSON

Dr. Michael Kotutwa Johnson is a Hopi farmer, scholar, and leader in Indigenous food sovereignty. Dr. Johnson is a faculty member and Assistance Specialist within the School of Natural Resources and the Environment. His work focuses on restoring Indigenous food systems, advancing land-based knowledge, and sharing how traditional water-conserving agricultural practices can inform today's climate and water challenges.

DELIVERED ONLINE VIA ZOOM, REGISTRATION REQUIRED